

A STORY SHARED AROUND THE TABLE

The last spoonful.

A 40th birthday between China and Prague.

A guest wants a dinner that brings back memories of China and includes his Czech friends. Follow how BlooM helps turn that wish into ideas for the food, its presentation and the service.

“That feeling of sharing matters more than an exact recipe.”

40th birthday

Host, wife and two friends

Lá Bù Lá · Prague · Chongqing bistro

17 October · 19:30 · four adults

Demo using the live app. The dinner, chef decisions and prices are simulated.

01 · THE GUEST'S STORY

Start with what matters to the guest

He is celebrating his 40th birthday with his wife and two friends. He remembers eating hong shao rou with his wife in China, especially sharing the last spoonful of sauce.

Bloom asks what he loved about it and what he wants from this evening.

The screenshot shows the Bloom app interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with the Bloom logo, links for Home, Restaurants & Partners, How it works, and About. On the right, there are language options (FR, EN, CS, TH), a Sign in button, and a Request a demo button. The main content area is a conversation with a chef. The chef's messages are in dark green boxes, and the user's responses are in light yellow boxes. The chef asks: "Would something very close to that flavor or texture, or would you be open to a dish inspired by those elements?". The user responds: "I'd love something close, but the chef should decide what is realistic for their kitchen. We used to go to a tiny neighbourhood restaurant and jokingly fight over the last spoonful of sauce, so that feeling of sharing matters more than an exact recipe." The chef then asks: "You value the shared experience and the feeling of savoring that last spoonful of sauce together more than an exact recipe of hong shao rou, trusting the chef to create something close and fitting for their kitchen. Does anyone among your guests have dietary restrictions or preferences that should be considered for this shared meal?". The user responds: "There are no allergies or dietary restrictions for the four of us; we'd just like mild heat and no coriander. I'd also love a discreet nod to our life in Prague, perhaps cabbage with caraway or plums, if that makes sense for Lá Bù Lá." The chef then asks: "You've noted no allergies or dietary restrictions, a preference for mild heat, and no coriander, with a wish for a subtle nod to Prague life, like cabbage with caraway or plums, if it fits Lá Bù Lá's style. Would you like the meal to feel more like a casual gathering or a special occasion dinner?". At the bottom, there's a text input field with the placeholder "Write your answer..." and a send button. On the right side of the screen, there's a "Request recap" section with a review and correction prompt. Below this, there are several sections with headings and text: "DESIRED FEELING" (Still to clarify in the conversation), "TO AVOID" (Still to clarify in the conversation), "GUEST" (Still to clarify in the conversation), "RITUALS" (Still to clarify in the conversation), "IMPORTANT PEOPLE" (Still to clarify in the conversation), "FOOD LIKES" (A text input field), "STORY DETAILS TO RETAIN" (A text input field containing "living in China, sharing the experience with friends, hong shao rou memory"), "Dietary details and spice" (A section header), and "GOÛTS ET EXCLUSIONS" (A text input field containing "Ce que vous n'aimez pas (distinct des allergies)").

Live app capture. The recap was manually corrected in this demo.

02 · THE SMALL TOUCHES

Make it personal beyond the food

Their Czech friends often make plum desserts. He would like a small nod to that, alongside the memories of China.

It could come through in the food, the way dishes are served or a small gesture at the table. He wants a relaxed evening, without a big birthday announcement.

 Bloom

Home Restaurants & Partners How it works About

FR EN CS TH Sign in Request a demo

How would you like the dinner to feel more like a casual gathering or a special occasion dinner?

Relaxed and intimate, with a little birthday magic rather than a big performance. I'd like the memories of China and our life in Prague to come through in the plating, how things are brought to the table or a small shared gesture too, not just in the ingredients.

You want a relaxed, intimate birthday dinner where the memories of China and Prague come through not only in ingredients but also in presentation and shared moments, with a subtle celebratory touch rather than a grand performance. Is there a particular dish or element from your time in Prague that you associate strongly with comfort or togetherness?

Our friends often make plum desserts when we eat at their place, so a little plum would be a lovely connection if it fits. I'd rather leave the actual presentation and small gestures to the team; they should feel natural in this restaurant.

A plum touch inspired by your friends' desserts is a meaningful connection, and you prefer the team at Lá Bù Lá to craft the presentation and gestures naturally in their style. To confirm, you'll be four guests, no allergies, mild heat, no coriander, and a shared feeling of intimate celebration blending China and Prague memories with a plum element—is that right?

Write your answer...

STORY DETAILS TO RETAIN

living in China, sharing the experience with friends, hong shao rou memory

► Dietary details and spice

GOÛTS ET EXCLUSIONS

Ce que vous n'aimez pas (distinct des allergies)

SERVICE WISHES

Souhaits exprimés, sans promesse du restaurant

POINTS TO CONFIRM

Inconnues ou demandes à vérifier avec le restaurant

CONTRAINTES

Absence de contraintes confirmée

Contraintes renseignées Inconnu / à vérifier

Non renseigné

Allergies/intolérances et goûts à éviter restent affichés séparément.

☐ I reviewed this recap. Unknowns and points to confirm are represented correctly.

03 · RESTAURANT DNA

Use what the restaurant already does

Bloom checks the request against the restaurant's profile: its cooking, ingredients, dishes and limits.

Here, pork and Chinese home cooking provide a starting point for the main course. The oolong cheesecake offers a base for dessert ideas. The team still needs to confirm ingredients, preparation and any special service.

Bloom

RESTAURANT DNA · LIVE PROFILE READING COPY

Lá Bù Lá — Prague

English view prepared from the live profile export on 6 October 2026. This is a reading view for the demo, not a production DNA editor.

The kitchen's identity

chongqing

sichuan

home-style-chinese-bistro

broths-and-noodles

CORE INGREDIENTS

Noodles · Tofu · Beef · Pork · Aubergine · Cucumber · Chilli · Sichuan pepper · Peanuts · Sesame

EXAMPLE DISHES

Beef noodles in spicy broth

Pork chao shou in mild broth

Silken tofu, shitake and sesame

Crispy aubergine

Oolong tea Basque cheesecake

CREATIVITY LEVEL

Balanced

Creative boundaries

AVOID

Mediterranean fusion unrelated to the house

Technical desserts without a documented basis

Promises to remove chilli or allergens without confirmation

GUIDANCE RECORDED FOR THE AI

Chongqing bistro in Prague. Adapt textures, balance and presentation with restraint. The public menu provides reference points, never guaranteed stock; specials depend on availability. Only one named dessert is documented here. For five sweet directions, consider variations to be validated, without claiming they are served. A variant described as vegan mentions chicken broth: a public inconsistency to clarify, do not guarantee it is vegan. Clarify chilli tolerance; no guarantees about cross-contamination.

Service permissions

Capabilities

None recorded

Allowed attentions

None recorded

Forbidden attentions

None recorded

Equipment

None recorded

An empty list means no entries are documented. It does not confirm permission or a refusal.

GUIDANCE RECORDED FOR THE AI

A warm, family-oriented positioning is not evidence of personalised service. Permissions for small notes, photos, candles, flowers, announcements and equipment are unknown. Do not promise or suggest anything without permission; record a spontaneously expressed wish as requiring confirmation.

SERVICE PROFILE VERSION

2026-09-21-public-draft

What this means for the dinner

Pork and oolong cheesecake provide starting points for the proposals. Pork belly, braising time, plums and sharing vessels still need checking. The guest's memories can guide plating and service ideas; they do not establish the restaurant's permission to carry them out.

Kitchen and service fields translated from the saved profile. The final paragraph is an interpretation for this demo. Public-reference draft; actual restaurant approval remains required. Original data accompanies the walkthrough.

English reading view of the saved restaurant profile, prepared for this demo.

Suggest a dish beyond the menu

BlooM suggests a “Hong Shao Rou Memory Bowl”, along with other options.

Pork fits the restaurant’s cooking. The chef still needs to check whether pork belly is available and whether there is time to prepare it.

Suggest how to share it

One dessert idea combines plum, sesame and cheesecake crumbs in a cup to share.

The plum recalls the friends’ desserts. Four spoons turn it into a small moment together. This idea came from BlooM during the demo.

BlooM

HomeRestaurants & PartnersHow it worksAbout

FRENCS

TH

Sign inRequest a demo

Desserts

Oolong Basque Cheesecake with Plum Spoon ✓

Creamy, tea-scented, softly plum-bright.

Basque cheesecake

oolong tea

plum compote

light cream

Basque cheesecake with oolong is the one documented dessert base, making it the safest sweet direction. A plum spoon or compote would be a Prague-friends connection to confirm, not an assumed house garnish.

Warm Plum and Oolong Syrup Cheesecake Plate

Tea depth, warm fruit, birthday softness.

oolong cheesecake

warm plums

tea syrup

toasted sesame

This is a variation on the documented oolong cheesecake rather than a new pastry program. Warm plum syrup would bring the friends’ plum-dessert memory into the plate if seasonal fruit and service timing allow.

Plum, Sesame and Cheesecake Crumb Cup ✓

Layered, relaxed, spoonable for sharing.

cheesecake cream

plums

sesame crumb

oolong aroma

A spoon dessert could be assembled from a cheesecake base and simple plum element if the kitchen finds that more practical than plated pastry. It keeps the birthday magic discreet: four spoons, one shared plum note, no grand performance.

Oolong Cheesecake with Black Vinegar Plum Glaze

Creamy, tangy, quietly dramatic.

oolong Basque cheesecake

plum glaze

black vinegar

caramelized top

Black vinegar can echo savoury Chinese balance while plum keeps the Prague connection, but this glaze would need chef validation. The safe foundation remains the documented oolong Basque cheesecake.

Simple Plum Tea Finale

Light fruit, warm tea, calm ending.

plum preserve

oolong tea

small sweet bite

shared serving

If a full plum dessert is not feasible, a modest plum-and-tea finish could sit beside or after the documented cheesecake direction. This would suit the requested intimate mood and avoid inventing a technical dessert beyond the house references.

Let the chef decide

The chef can accept, change or remove suggestions and set the prices.

In this demo, we keep the cucumber starter and remove the cabbage option. We also simulate approval of the pork and desserts.

4 guests · 10/17/2026

✓ Chef Validation

Validating

Menu:

The Last Spoonful Between China and Prague

Proposed dishes

Starters

+ Add dish

Smashed Cucumber with Toasted Sesame

Client's choice

Doable

cucumber

toasted sesame

mild chili oil

Sichuan pepper

This is a light opening direction grounded in the house's public cucumber, sesame, chili and Sichuan pepper references, with the heat kept mild. It gives the table something fresh and shareable before richer pork or broth dishes, without using coriander.

Price: €

8

Replace / adapt:

Ex. cherries → figs

Final dish title (if the dish changes)

Smashed Cucumber with Toasted Sesame

Cabbage, Caraway and Sichuan Pepper Pickle

Client's choice

Doable

cabbage

caraway

rice vinegar

Sichuan pepper

This is an off-menu direction to review: cabbage and caraway would be the discreet Prague nod the guests asked for, while Sichuan pepper links it back to the house style. Cabbage, caraway preparation and service fit would need confirmation; the documented alternative would be a cucumber-based cold starter.

Price: €

0

Replace / adapt:

Ex. cherries → figs

These are test decisions, not approval from the restaurant.

BlooM | Real app. Fictional dinner.

7 / 11

07 · THE GUEST’S CHOICE

Let the guest choose

The guest chooses cucumber, the pork bowl and the shared plum dessert.

The options reflect the chef’s review. The guest then confirms the menu in the app.

The €35 shown is a demo price, not a restaurant quote.

08 · THE CHEF PACK

Give the kitchen clear suggestions

The Chef pack suggests serving the pork in a deep bowl, with enough sauce for that last spoonful. The dessert could come in one larger bowl for everyone to share.

It explains the link to the guest's story and lists what the kitchen needs to check.

- Appui maison: Smoked cucumber and saucing are documented. - Condition: Confirm extra sauce prep and bowl style with team. - Option 2: Add a sprinkle of toasted sesame seeds just before serving for aroma and texture contrast. - Geste: Final sesame sprinkle. - Détail client: Emphasizes sesame, a house marker and a link to the main/dessert. - Appui maison: Sesame is a core ingredient. - Condition: None; standard. Main: Hong Shao Rou Memory Bowl - Central dish, inspired by the client's China memories. - Option 1: Serve pork and sauce over rice in a deep sharing bowl, with a generous amount of sauce at the bottom for guests to spoon out—directly references the “last spoonful” story. - Geste: Sauce pooled for communal spooning. - Détail client: Recreates the playful fight for sauce. - Appui maison: Sharing bowls, saucy dishes are house style. - Condition: Confirm pork belly availability and braising time; confirm rice and sauce volume. - Option 2: If plum is available and appropriate, finish with a light plum glaze or a few stewed plum pieces in the sauce (not as a dominant note), for a subtle Prague reference. - Geste: Plum glaze or stewed plum in sauce. - Détail client: Prague memory, friends’ plum desserts. - Appui maison: No documented use of plum; would be a new ingredient. - Condition: Plum availability and compatibility with house flavors; chef validation required. Dessert: Plum, Sesame and Cheesecake Crumb Cup - Layered, spoonable, relaxed; fits the sharing, Prague, and house cheesecake elements. - Option 1: Present dessert in a single larger cup or bowl for the table to share, not individual portions, reinforcing intimacy and the “sharing” theme. - Geste: One large sharing cup. - Détail client: Table sharing, relaxed intimacy. - Appui maison: Sharing style is house-appropriate. - Condition: Confirm suitable serving vessel and portioning. - Option 2: Add a light sprinkle of toasted sesame seeds or a drizzle of sesame oil on top for aroma and a flavor bridge to starter/main. - Geste: Sesame finish. - Détail client: Connects all courses with a subtle thread. - Appui maison: Sesame is a core ingredient. - Condition: None; standard. Points to Confirm - Pork belly availability and braising time for hong shao rou memory bowl.	resources and do not require special authorization Réduire Modifier Copier ✓ Approuver Bloom
--	--

Help the service team carry it through

The Service pack suggests placing dishes in the centre and keeping the meal relaxed.

If it suits the team, a short introduction could explain the China and Prague references or invite the guests to share the last spoonful. Special gestures still need the restaurant’s agreement.

appropriate and available). - No grand birthday performance. - Sharing and the “last spoonful” memory are central. - Any special plating or gesture is a wish, not a requirement. - Chef to confirm feasibility of hong shao rou or close alternative (pork belly availability, braising time). - Team to confirm any special plating/service gesture and budget fit. Documented House Markers - Style: Chongqing/Sichuan, home-style Chinese bistro. - Core ingredients: noodles, tofu, beef, pork, eggplant, cucumber, chili, Sichuan pepper, peanuts, sesame. - Example dishes: Beef noodle soup, pork chao shou in mild broth, silken tofu with shiitake and sesame, crispy eggplant, Basque cheesecake with oolong. - Only one dessert (Basque cheesecake with oolong) is named/documented. - Plum, cabbage, caraway not documented as standard. - No proof of pork belly or hong shao rou as regular offering; specials possible if available. - No documented service gestures or special equipment. Confirmed Capabilities/Authorizations - None explicitly confirmed for off-menu pork belly, plum, or special gestures. Explicit Restaurant Forbiddens - No Mediterranean fusion. - No technical desserts without a documented base. - No guarantee of chili/allergen removal without confirmation. Unknowns - Pork belly and braising capacity for hong shao rou. - Stock/availability of plums, cabbage, caraway. - Authorization for special plating/service gestures. - Equipment, staff, or time for off-menu preparations. Final Adapted Menu (Menu 2, in order) Starters Smashed Cucumber with Toasted Sesame Cool, crisp, sesame-bright, gently tingling. Mains Hong Shao Rou Memory Bowl Tender pork, glossy sauce, rice waiting below. Desserts Plum, Sesame and Cheesecake Crumb Cup Layered, relaxed, spoonable for sharing.	• Starter: Smashed Cucumber with Toasted Sesame (cool, crisp, gently tingling) • Main: Hong Shao Rou Memory Bowl (tender pork, glossy sauce, rice below) • Dessert: Plum, Sesame and Cheesecake Crumb Cup (layered, spoonable, for sharing) - No coriander, mild heat, no allergies or dietary restrictions - Budget: ~900 CZK/person for food - Wishes: Light starter, main and rice to share, dessert; discreet nods to China and Prague via plating, presentation, or a small shared gesture; no grand birthday performance Gestures possible (subject to usual team practice): - Plating and arrival: • Dishes can be placed centrally for sharing (starter, main, rice, dessert) — aligns with guest’s sharing preference and house’s home-style bistro approach; to be executed as per standard service flow • Dessert served in a format suitable for sharing by spoon (as per menu note) - Rhythm: • Starter, then main/rice, then dessert — standard sequence, matches guest’s wish for a relaxed, paced meal - Discreet references: • If team wishes, subtle nods to China (e.g., serving main and rice together for communal feel) and Prague (e.g., highlighting plum in dessert) can be reflected in how dishes are described or presented, within normal resources • Any small shared gesture (e.g., inviting guests to serve each other the last spoonful of sauce) is possible if it fits team’s style, but not required Attentions expressly authorized: - None documented Points unknown / to clarify: - Any special plating, verbal gesture, or service ritual (e.g., highlighting the “last spoonful” story, inviting a shared moment) — not documented as standard or authorized; to be confirmed with the team - Permission for candles, flowers, written notes, or other birthday markers — not documented - Any non-standard service equipment or tableware — not documented - Whether the team can/wishes to reference the China/Prague connection verbally or through a gesture — to be confirmed Requests/options to confirm internally: - Any special gesture or presentation referencing the “last spoonful” or the China/Prague connection - Any non-standard dessert sharing setup or verbal attention - Any subtle birthday acknowledgment (without performance) if team feels appropriate
---	---

WHAT BLOOM MAKES POSSIBLE

A meal that tells your story

The guest brings a story, a memory or a moment they want to share with others. The chef and the team bring the skills, ideas and care to make it part of the meal.

BlooM helps them create it together: through the dishes, the way they are presented, and the small touches that make people feel welcome.

For the guest, it is a way to share something personal around the table. For the restaurant, it opens up more of what its people can do, beyond the dishes listed on a menu.

The guest's story, brought to life by the restaurant's craft.